North End Community Health Centre's statement on Kamloops Residential School

The North End Community Health Centre is located on Mi'kma'ki, the ancestral and unceded territory of the Mi'kmaq people. We want to send our condolences to all those impacted by the recent findings of the mass grave of 215 Indigenous children on the site of a former residential school in Kamloops, British Columbia. There are so many emotions people are feeling right now. This finding is incomprehensible in its impact to Indigenous people. We mourn the loss of these innocent children. We demand justice.

As a Health Centre we see first hand the impacts of intergenerational trauma. It is immeasurable. To our Indigenous staff, clients, volunteers, and community we stand with you, and are here for you if you need support beyond the community organizations who have already stepped up to provide culturally appropriate support.
